

Radish & Anchovy Salad

This is a pungent and feisty salad; and a great little surprise amongst all the other salads that show up at Christmas and throughout the summer.

1 Large bunch (of mild to moderate heat level) radishes, top and tailed and cut into small wedges

The Dressing:

2 anchovy fillets

1 clove garlic

2 tablespoons lemon juice

Salt and pepper

EVOO (approximately $\frac{1}{4}$ cup)

2 teaspoons capers

2 tablespoons flat leafed (Italian) parsley

- In a mortar and pestle add anchovy, garlic, salt pepper and mash to a paste.
- Mix in the lemon juice then slowly blend in the oil, adding it in a thin stream until fully emulsified into the dressing.
- Then stir in the capers and parsley.
- Taste for seasoning, stir through the radishes and serve immediately (otherwise the radishes will weep and the salad will become watery).
